Wyoming Medicare Advantage Enrollment Has Grown

by Timothy McBride, Yolonda Lahren, and Steven Meyer

The number of persons enrolled in Medicare Advantage (MA) and prepaid plans in Wyoming doubled between December 2005 and September 2007, growing from about 900 to over 1,000 persons (Table 1). However, the enrollment in MA and prepaid plans represents 3.7% of Wyoming Medicare beneficiaries, significantly below the national enrollment rate of 20%.

Growth in the MA program in Wyoming was almost exclusively in rural areas, where enrollment grew from about 400 persons to about 1,600 persons (3.2% of rural Medicare beneficiaries in Wyoming) between December 2005 and September 2007.

Table 1. Enrollment in Medicare Advantage and Prepaid Plans in Wyoming, 2005-2007

Location	Number of Enrollees		Percent of Medicare Population
	Dec. 2005	Sept. 2007	Dec. 2005	Sept. 2007
All Medicare Advantage and Prepaid Plans:
Total	900	1,907	1.2%	3.7%
Rural	413	1,598	0.8%	3.2%
PFFS Plans:
Total	0	1,873	0.0%	2.5%
Rural	0	1,244	0.0%	2.5%

Growth Most Significant in Private Fee-for-Service Plans

The dramatic increase in MA enrollment in Wyoming has been led by exceptionally rapid growth in private fee-for-service (PFFS) plans, and virtually all MA enrollees in Wyoming are in PFFS plans. While in December 2005 there were no enrollees in PFFS plans statewide, enrollment in PFFS plans jumped to over 1,800 by September 2007 (Table 1). About two-thirds of the PFFS enrollees in Wyoming were in rural areas.

Medicare Advantage Plans Described

MA plans are private-sector plans that contract with Medicare to provide all Medicare-related services, plus additional benefits (e.g., prescription drugs, vision care, preventive care), sometimes at an additional cost to beneficiaries. Prepaid plans are special plans created over the years by legislation and comprise mostly “cost” plans. PFFS plans, created by legislation in 1997, are private MA plans that contract with Medicare like other MA plans, but for the most part do not operate networks of providers, such as health maintenance organizations (HMOs) operate. Instead, PFFS plans pay providers on a fee-for-service basis after receiving payment from Medicare.

Conclusion and Implications

MA plans have spread to more areas and enrolled a higher number of beneficiaries due to a number of factors, including significant growth in payment to MA plans. PFFS plans have gained a strong foothold in rural areas because the differential between the MA Medicare payment and traditional Medicare payment is large, and because it is less difficult to set up a PFFS plan than other types of MA plans (e.g., HMOs). Thus, there are strong incentives for PFFS plans to seek rural enrollment. While it is too early to gauge the full impact of MA plans, these plans give more options to Medicare recipients and lower out-of-pocket costs. On the other hand, providers have had to make significant adjustments in timing and collection practices to deal with these new Medicare program payers. The U.S. Congress is now wrestling with how to pay for the rapid growth in MA plans, especially PFFS plans.
